Product details

You will find similar shelving units to the Marin design in Soho House Chicago, which this piece is inspired by. Crafted from solid American oak, the mid-tone finish and vertical grooved details echo the House's vintage aesthetic, with an array of alternating shelves that sit above a sideboard unit designed for multiple use, from book storage to displaying objects. Reinforced sliding doors below keep other storage elements hidden, with an internal shelf that can be adjusted to suit your needs. Use against the wall or as a divider to create different zones in the room.
