Product details

Our Lenka bowl is made from sandstone that's been mined in the mountains. Sandstone is a sedimentary rock consisting mainly of sand-sized minerals or rock grains, which can be derived from the fragments of other rocks, and in turn gives off a textured finish. Shaped into an exaggerated, tapered bowl with an elevated base, this piece adds height and interest to any tablescape. Tapered bowl Crafted from sandstone mined in the mountains Textured finish Elevated base Decorative purposes only Inspired by Soho Roc House
